About Us

La Gaitana Farms was founded in 1984 by four partners, starting with 4 hectares of greenhouse production. After facing many challenges, the company consolidated its operation. More land available in the years 1994, 2003, 2015 and 2017. This way we could meet market demand. In the years 2005 and 2018, we expanded the post-harvest facility with the highest quality standards to provide a continuous cold chain at every step of the process. Continued investment and growth have led the farm to achieve a solid infrastructure over the years. During these 40 years of history, two fundamental guidelines have accompanied the development of La Gaitana Farms: the quality of our flowers and outstanding service to our customers. Today, we still have available land for greenhouse expansion in the upcoming years.

Water Management

The design of our greenhouses allows for collecting and storing rainwater, covering 60% of our water needs. Computerized drip irrigation optimizes water consumption.

Social and Environmental Responsibility

These certifications prove we take proper care of personnel at all levels and look after the environment.

Our Farms

Subachoque Farm

Positioned 40 km from Bogotá, specializes in cultivating open-field products like eryngium.

Cota Farm

Located strategically 10 km from Bogotá airport, it has served as our primary operational center. It encompasses areas for cultivation, post-harvest, and administrative functions.

Guasca Farm

Situated 42 km from Bogotá, it has the perfect conditions for growing carnations. The farm benefits from low temperatures at night, which result in a longer growing cycle and the production of thick stems.

Our Partners

Since 1984, La Gaitana Farms has been a member of the Colombian Association of Flower Exporters "Asocolflores" and has served on its board of directors. We collaborate with all carnation and mini-carnation breeders to select the best varieties and the latest collections they offer.
