About Us

---

La Gaitana Farms was founded in 1984 by four partners, starting with 4 hectares of greenhouse production. After facing many challenges, the company consolidated its operation. More land was acquired in the years 1994, 2003, 2015 and 2017. This way we could meet market demand. In the years 2005 and 2018, we expanded the post-harvest facility with the highest quality standards to provide a continuous cold chain at every step of the process. Continued investment and growth have led the farm to achieve a solid infrastructure over the years. During these 40 years of history, two fundamental guidelines have accompanied the development of La Gaitana Farms: the quality of our flowers and outstanding service to our customers. Today, we still have available land for greenhouse expansion in the upcoming years.

Breeders

La Gaitana Farms is proud to showcase two of the world's top carnation breeders: Santamaria and Danziger. We work closely with these breeders to conduct flower trials at our farm, enabling us to actively contribute to the development of new varieties. Our strong collaboration also allows us to be the first to bring these new varieties to the market. If any grower wants to experience and evaluate a new variety firsthand, they must visit our farm to see the latest introductions.

Water Management

The design of our greenhouses allows for collecting and storing rainwater, covering 60% of our water needs. Computerized drip irrigation optimizes water consumption.

Social and Environmental Responsibility

These certifications prove we take proper care of personnel at all levels and look after the environment.

Our Farms

Subachoque Farm

Positioned 40 km from Bogotá, specializes in cultivating open-field products like eryngium.

Cota Farm

Located strategically 10 km from Bogotá airport, it serves as our primary operational center. It encompasses areas for cultivation, post-harvest, and administrative functions. Our production team at this farm is trusted by three major breeders to carry out trials for new varieties.

Guasca Farm

Situated 42 km from Bogotá and has the perfect conditions for growing carnations. The farm benefits from low temperatures at night, which result in a longer growing cycle and the production of thick stems.

Our Partners

---

Since 1984, La Gaitana Farms has been a member of the Colombian Association of Flower Exporters "Asocolflores" and has served on its board of directors. We collaborate with all carnation and mini-carnation breeders to select the best varieties and the latest collections they offer.

AIPH International Grower of the Year 2025

GOLD ROSE Winner

CUT FLOWERS & BULBS Winner

SUSTAINABILITY Winner

La Gaitana Farms S.A.S. is a leader in the floriculture industry, dedicated to sustainable and high-quality flower production. Founded in 1984 with a vision to beautify the world with exceptional flowers, La Gaitana Farms cultivates a wide variety of blooms with the utmost respect for the environment and communities. The family-owned, independent company grows carnations and manufactures bouquets across 43 hectares of cropping area.

Their commitment to sustainable practices, technological innovation, and social responsibility has positioned them as a trusted supplier in international markets. In 2019, 2023 and 2025, the company won awards for quality at Proflora, Colombia's leading international horticultural show.

La Gaitana Farms has spurred important breakthroughs in the industry, consistently staying ahead of the curve. Aiming at vertical integration, they have established their own import and distribution branches in Europe and the US, simplifying operations for customers.
